A Month in Politics

Who would have thought a month ago we would have a new prime minister by now.

It is depressing to see that our government cannot do anything to fight climate change. Now we have a government that has no policy on climate change and no thought of making one.

The only thing that could have been worse would have been if Dutton had won

I'm sorry!
I tried to draw something about the government's environment policy and this is all I could think of

Naked Truth Calendar

A group of us has been working together to make a Naked Calendar for sale for X'mas. It has been more work than I expected, but I am very pleased with the result.

It is being done through StopAdani Eltham and will go on sale on 15th October. We need early orders so that we can pay for the initial print run of 2,000 calendars.

Profits from the sale will go to grass roots organisations around Australia fighting Adani. We would prefer that groups spend their time fighting Adani rather than trying to raise money!

Our original idea was to make it a humorous calendar, but we decided that the issue of Climate Change was too serious. So we have gone with a series of artistic images.

Besides raising money, we hope that people can have a calendar on their fridge for 12 months and be reminded of the fight that goes on against Adani in particular and Climate Change in general

I will send out a link to use to order the calendars on the 15th, and ask that if you want to support us, please place orders by the end of the month and promote it through your social media.

The calendar will cost $15. We also have a program where bulk orders of more than 10 calendars can be made for $10 each. Groups can then resell them for $15. If groups are unable to sell them and return them by the 30th of November, we will give a full refund.
